Continuing the Run

The Maryland women's soccer team returns eight starters, including one First Team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honoree and two who were named to the Freshmen All-American team by Soccer America in 1995, as it looks to continue its run into the upper echelon of the Division I women's soccer community.

Maryland takes on a new look in 1996 as Alan Kirkup takes over as the head coach of one of the most rapidly improving programs in the nation. Kirkup comes to College Park after a successful 10-year run as the head coach at Southern Methodist. He led the Mustangs to the semifinal round of the 1995 NCAA Tournament, four NCAA Tournament appearances and 10 consecutive winning seasons.

- As for the Terps, they finished the 1995 season with an 18-6-0 record. The team established the program record for wins in a season and winning percentage, .750.
- The team advanced to the "Elite 8" round of the NCAA Tournament after it was selected to play in the national championship tournament for the first time.
- They advanced to the championship game of the ACC Tournament for the first time. It marked the first time in the history of the program that the Terps had won more than one game in the ACC tournament.

Maryland's returning experience, a tested collection of reserves, high powered offense and stanch defense makes it a serious contender for both conference and national honors.

Offensively, the Terps' front line, which produced a program record 64 goals in 1995, returns virtually intact. The top three goal scorers and five of the top eight point producers will be in the starting lineup this season. As a unit, they proved they can score goals against the best competition in the nation.

The impressive goal scoring trio of junior Michelle Deville and sophomores Emmy Harbo and Keri Sarver combined to score 33 goals a year ago. They combined for 12 game winning goals, six against ranked teams and four in the post season. Deville, who scored a career high 10 goals in 1995, led the Mid-Atlantic region with six game winners and is very dangerous with the ball at her feet in traffic. Her ability to control the ball is uncanny. She possesses a streamlined shot which always seems to find unprotected corners of the opponents' nets. Harbo, a Freshmen All-American selection by Soccer America Magazine, set a school record for single season goals with 13 and points with 35. She uses her speed to get behind opposing defenses and is also a strong passer. Sarver is a strong finisher who plays well in the open field. She, too, established a personal benchmark for goals in a single season with 10 in 1995. Freshmen Julie Nelson and Lindsay Basalyga and junior Natalie Rich will add depth to the position.

Maryland's midfield will be led by pre-season All-America selection Michelle Salmon. Salmon, a junior, has proven to be the Terps' on field inspiration, who continuously leads by example. She has logged over 1,200 minutes played during each of her first two seasons and has matured into a respected leader. Salmon displayed her offensive abilities in 1995 with two goals and five assists for a career high tying nine total points. Sophomore Robin McCullough, who contributed three goals while starting 22 of the Terps' 24 games returns as a significant talent. McCullough played consistently well during her inaugural collegiate season as she proved her immense value to the midfield position each game. Sophomores Wendy Baldwin and Abby Bausman and freshman Emily Janss will add strong depth to the position and compete for playing time from the onset of pre-season practice.

Maryland's defense will be anchored by senior Erin Taylor who has fellow senior Maureen McDonough and sophomore Tiffany Keyes returning to her side.

Taylor was a First team All-ACC and ACC All-Tournament team selection in 1995. She leads Maryland's attacking defense which surrendered a program low 19 goals in 24 games - an average of 0.79 per game. In addition, she contributed two goals and has eight during her career. McDonough may be Maryland's most tenacious player and its' hardest worker. Her overall consistency and stamina has allowed her to lead the team in minutes played during each of the past two seasons. Keyes displayed her immense ability during the Terps' first pre-season practice and continued to perform well during the entire season. She is a competitive defender who has the ability to start an attack in the defensive zone and help finish in the offensive zone. Her ability to play well at both ends of the field make her a most valuable Terp. Freshmen Jackie Mynarski will also contribute.

Kassie Knecht, Maryland's starting goalkeeper, was a Freshman All-America selection by Soccer America after posting a program best 0.94 goals against average in 1995. She was outstanding in the post season as the Terps won three games and allowed only two goals in a pair of NCAA Tournament games, and only three goals in the ACC Tournament as the Terps advanced to the Championship game. Senior Missy Price, who has played in 33 career games and holds a 1.66 career goals against average, is regarded as one of the top back-up goalies in the ACC.

Head Coach Alan Kirkup

Head Coach

First Season at Maryland
Tenth Season Overall (148-53-7, .728)

Alan Kirkup, who led Southern Methodist University to the 1995 NCAA Semifinals, is in his first season at the University of Maryland. Kirkup averaged nearly 15 wins a season at SMU, led the Mustangs to four NCAA Tournament berths and six top-20 national rankings. He coached six All-America honorees and 21 all-region selections during his 10-year career. Among the players Kirkup coached at SMU is Danielle Garrett who is a member of the U.S. National Team Pool and who led Divison I in goals scored with 32 in 1995.

Kirkup guided SMU to a 23-1-1 record, a berth in the NCAA Tournament Semifinals and a final national ranking of three in 1995. Kirkup started the Mustang program in 1986 and had been the only coach in their history until he left to come to Maryland. During his career there, he recorded 10 straight winning seasons. Academically during his decade in Dallas, more than 95 percent of the student-athletes who played for him earned their degrees.

"It's a great challenge to be part of a great university program and part of what is arguably the best conference in the country, the ACC. It's a big step for me to come to Maryland, but I've always enjoyed the challenges of soccer," said Kirkup.

"Coach Kirkup has a proven track record," said Director of Athletics Deborah Yow upon hiring Kirkup. "He built SMU into an elite NCAA Division I soccer program, as evidenced by his team's No. 3 ranking in 1995. Quite candidly, he has been where we want to go—to the Final Four in women's soccer.

"We are pleased to have attracted someone with such outstanding credentials, and believe he will take our program to the next level of achievement."

Kirkup is a native of England who competed for the world famous Manchester United Football Club from 1973 to 1976 and for the England Youth Team Squad in 1975. He played and was an administrator for the Loughborough University Football Club from 1977 to 1981, when he came to the United States as a Graduate Assistant Soccer Coach at Eastern Illinois University. After a year, he returned to England to coach at the Netherhall School from 1982 to 1985, before his appointment at SMU as assistant men's soccer coach. He assumed head coaching duties of the women's team the next year and served as the men's assistant through 1988.

Kirkup, 39, holds a United States Soccer Federation 'A' coaching license. He was coaching director of both the North Texas State Soccer Association and the Texas Longhorns Soccer Club of Dallas.

While at Loughborough, Kirkup earned a Bachelor of Science degree, and he received his Master of Science degree from Eastern Illinois in physical education. He and his wife, Claudia, have two children, Molly, 7, and Stephen, 5.

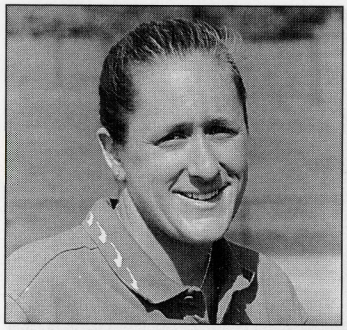
Coaching Staff



Lynn Jarosi

Assistant Coach

Lynn Jarosi is in her first year as an assistant coach at the University of Maryland. She will be involved in all aspects of the program including recruiting, travel and office organization.

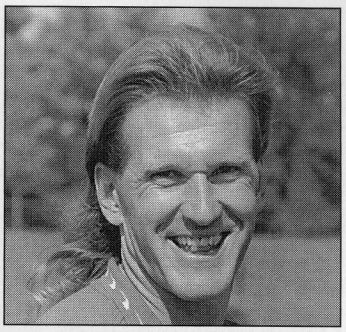
Jarosi comes to Maryland after serving the Cardinals Soccer Club of Cincinnati as a full-time trainer. While on the Cardinal staff, she helped coach girls ages 8-17 for league competition. Prior to that, she worked with the Ohio South Youth Soccer Association and worked with the U.S. Olympic Development Program.

Jarosi was an assistant coach at Florida International during the 1994 season.

She was a four-year starter at Southern Methodist where she played for current Terps' head coach Alan Kirkup from 1989-1992. A defender, Jarosi helped lead the Mustangs to three NCAA Tournament appearances. She helped lead the Mustangs to a cumulative 53-24-1 record during her career. The team was ranked during each of Jarosi's four seasons and closed the 1990 and 1992 seasons ranked No. 11 in the nation.

Jarosi, a native of Columbus Ohio, was a four-year soccer letterwinner at Westerville North High School and captain of the Olympic Development team for three years. She was a member of the Texas State Select Team and led that team to the national tournament during the summer of 1993.

She earned her bachelor's degree in psychology from SMU in 1993. She earned a master's degree in psychology from the University of Cincinnati in 1996.



Billy Warren

Assistant Coach

Billy Warren is in his first season as an assistant coach at the University of Maryland. He will work primarily with the Terps' goalkeepers.

Warren has distinguished himself as one of the premier goalkeeper trainers in the Atlantic Coast region of the United States. He has worked with numerous college and high school varsity and area youth teams, local clubs, Olympic Development and outdoor professional teams. He lists Montgomery and Shenandoah Colleges, Thomas Johnson and Kennedy High Schools, the Bethesda and Potomac Soccer Clubs, the Seneca Heat and Olney Mustangs club teams and the Washington Stars on his lengthy resume.

Warren has also worked with the Cayman National Team and teams in both Northern Ireland and Guatemala during his career.

He has also had success in developing and managing numerous soccer clinics and camps. Warren has earned his Irish Badge and is working toward earning his full badge from the Irish Football Association. He holds a "C" class coaching license from the United States Soccer Federation and has completed the renowned Goalkeeping Course given by the Scottish Football Association.

Warren enjoyed a distinguished playing career with both the Washington Diplomats and the Maryland Bays of the American Professional Soccer League. In addition, he has trained with the Birmingham City Football Club of England.

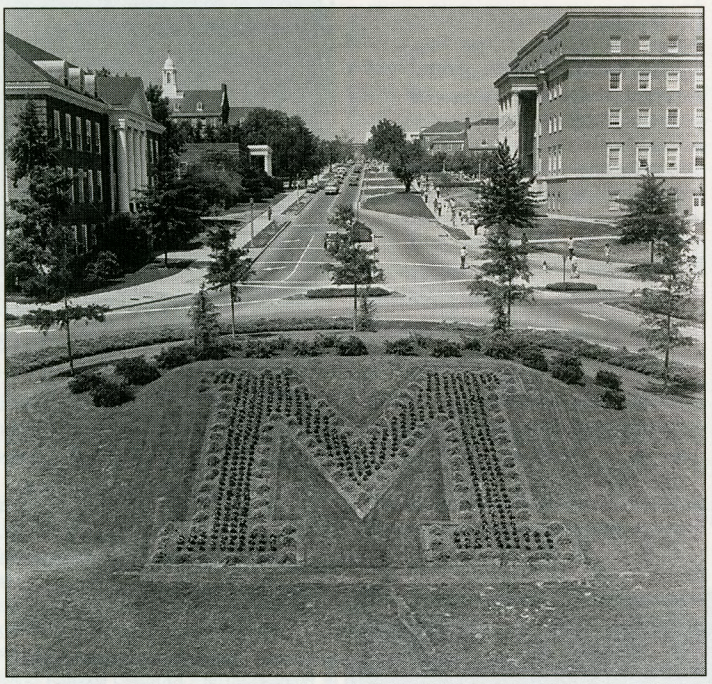
The University of Maryland at College Park



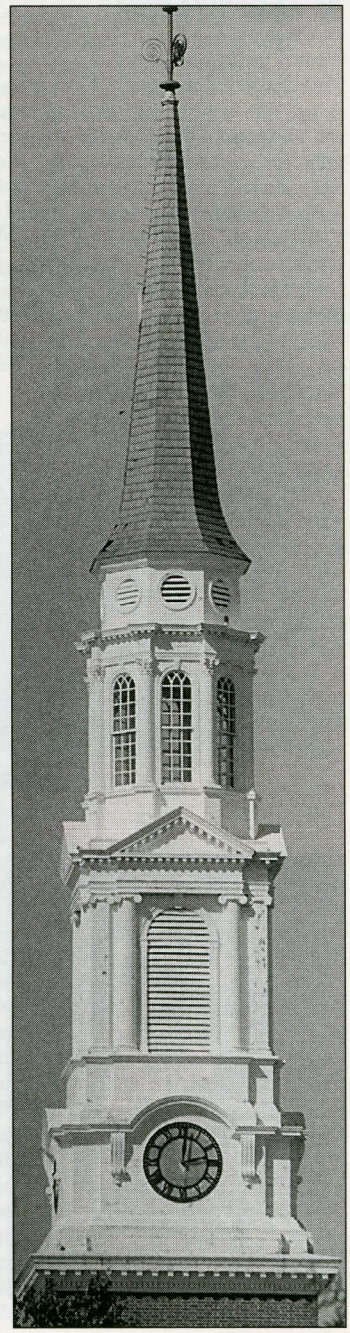
A trip across College Park reveals a university which has changed markedly in the 1990s. Almost a half-billion dollars worth of construction has recently taken place or is on going. A campus already known for its beauty is getting better. Academically, College Park's peers are the best public universities in America.

A trip across the state of Maryland reveals deep tradition, too. Washington, D.C.'s monuments and national historic treasures are just miles away, the building housing the nation's archives is on campus. Historic sites in Baltimore have Edgar Allan Poe and Babe Ruth's names on them and Annapolis has witnessed much of the nation's history.

Baltimore's Inner Harbor and Annapolis's waterways lead into the Chesapeake Bay, with room for thousands of sailboats. There is the Atlantic ocean on the state's eastern shore; its western boundaries are ringed by the Blue Ridge and Allegheny mountains.

College Park is surrounded by opportunities in sports and the arts, by chances to visit mountains or shore. It's a good location.

- Washington, D.C. is three miles from Byrd Stadium. The National Capital's major attractions are within 10 miles. Making the trip easy is the Metro Rail System, which began connecting College Park to the rest of suburban Maryland, the District of Columbia, and Northern Virginia, in December of 1993. Campus shuttles serve the College Park station, allowing easy access to one of the country's model transportation systems.
- Baltimore is located 35 miles north of the College Park campus. Its rejuvenation as an urban center is unprecedented: The Inner Harbor, its National Aquarium and tall ships, and the nearby Orioles Park at Camden Yards, create an exciting, vibrant, holiday atmosphere in a city that boasts one of the world's great sea ports. The heart of Maryland, the Chesapeake Bay, is 20 miles from campus, and the state capital, Annapolis, is 30 miles.
- Washington and Baltimore may be reached easily from anywhere in the United States and the world. USAir, which is headquartered in the Metropolitan area, uses Baltimore/Washington International Airport as a hub. Both BWI and Dulles Airport, which is a hub for United Airlines, are international airports, capable or providing service to any continent. College Park is 10 minutes from the Amtrak Northeast Corridor Line and frequent train service along the East Coast.



The University of Maryland at College Park

Picture a university so comprehensive that if offers degrees in 98 disciplines, so technologically advanced that it manages specially-designed research facilities not found on any other campus in the country and boasts a telecommunications system which serves as a model for universities worldwide. And, at the same time, it is a university concerned enough to include special housing matched to student interests and to ensure that half of all undergraduate classes have fewer than 30 students.

That's a snapshot of the University of Maryland at College Park, the flagship institution of Maryland's system of higher education.

Academic Stature

One of only 30 public research universities in the prestigious 58-member Association of American Universities; among fewer than 10 percent of universities invited to join Phi Beta Kappa.

Baccalaureate Choices: Degrees offered in 98 disciplines; pre-professional programs in dental hygiene, dentistry, law, medical technology, medicine, nursing, optometry, osteopathic medicine, pharmacy, physical therapy and pediatric medicine.

Dramatic Moments: Find them in the 1,350 seat Tawes Theater, the stage for major theatrical productions and special events.

Faculty Facts: Full-time, 1,998; part-time 544; student/faculty ratio, 14/1.

Getting There: The MARC train offers public transportation from College Park to Baltimore's Camden Station, next to Orioles Park at Camden Yards and near the Inner Harbor. The highly efficient Metro system puts the Suburban Maryland, District of Columbia and Northern Virginia areas a rapid transit system ride away from College Park.

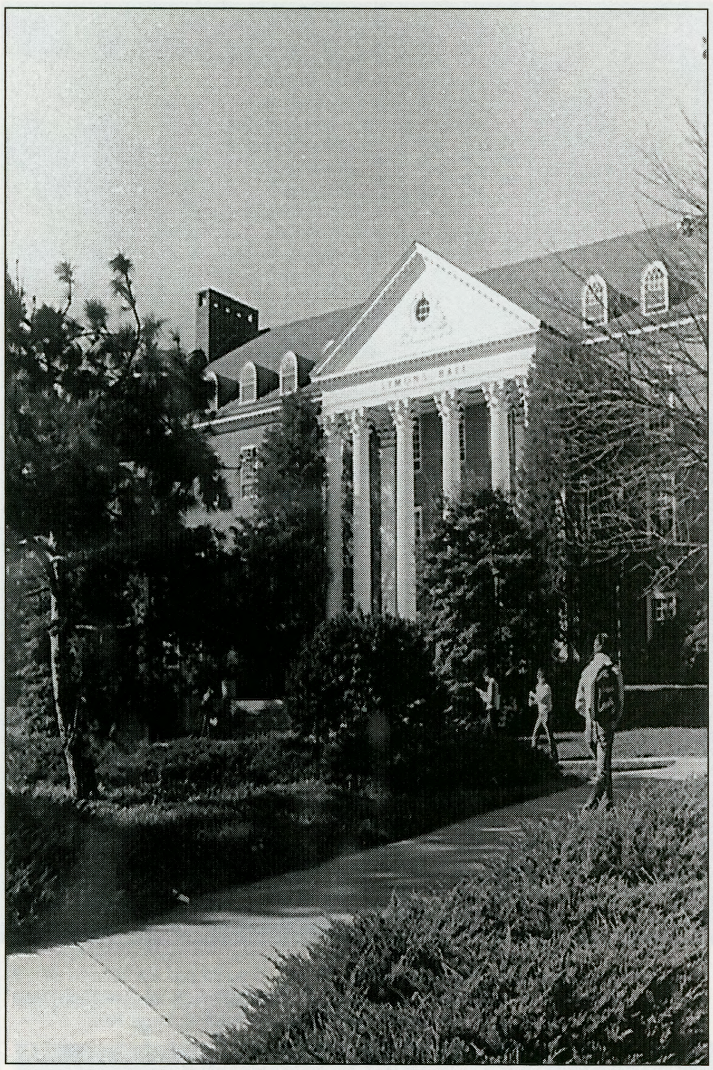
Ideas: More than 100 active patent disclosures by university inventors are managed by the Office of Technology Liaison.

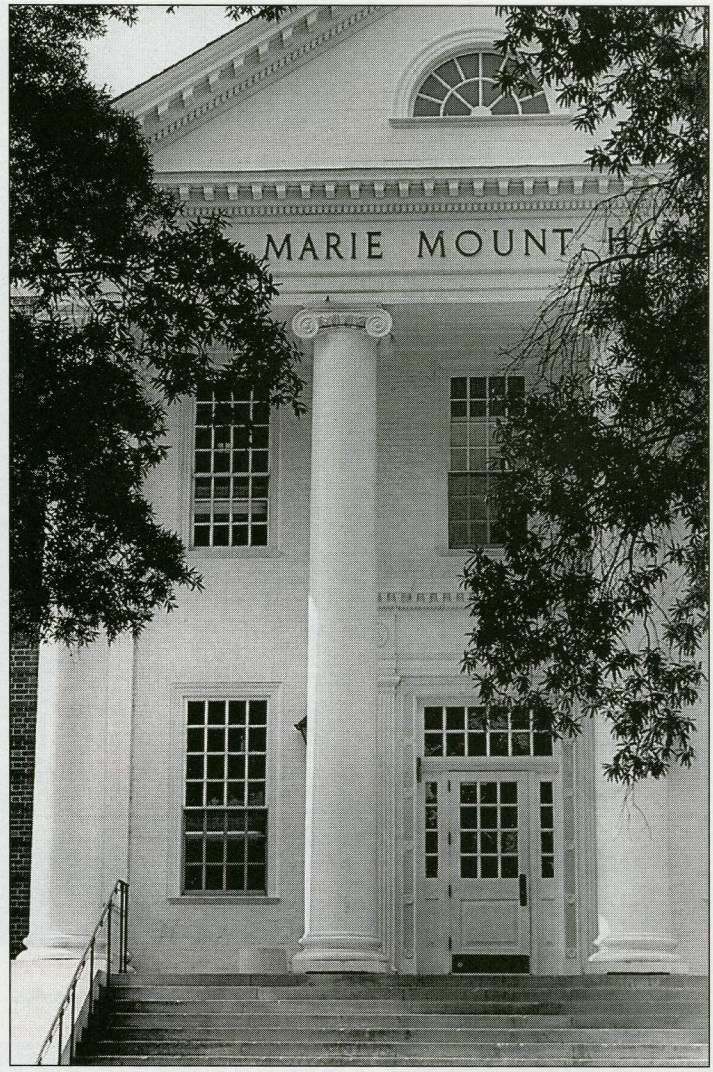
Journalist's Pick: The College of Journalism was selected as one of two sites in the U.S. for the Hubert H. Humphrey Fellowship Program, and named one of the nations' top communications programs by the Gannett Center for Media Studies.

Library Holdings: Largest academic research library system in Washington metropolitan area. There are 2.8 million volumes in libraries and 4.6 million items on microfilm.

Nationally Noted: A dozen academic departments and programs at College Park are placed in top 10 among U.S. public universities by the National Academy of Sciences.

The University of Maryland at College Park





On the Drawing Board: $36 million campus recreation center and $100 million Center for Performing Arts will soon enhance the campus.

U.S. News and World Report* Finds: The Department of Computer Science ranks 12th in the nation, beating three Ivy League schools, and the Department of Physics is 13th best, ahead of UCLA and Pennsylvania among others. The College of Business and Management is considered 14th in student selectivity.

Value Added: College Park is included in the Guide to 101 of the Best Values in Colleges and Universities, published annually by the Center for College Enrollment Studies.

The University of Maryland at College Park

Just after the American Revolution, the state of Maryland established its first two colleges at Chestertown and Annapolis. By the 1850s, at least 30 little colleges had sprung up over the state, many with state support, but many of them disappearing within a few years. Then in 1859, a different kind of institution appeared at College Park—the Maryland Agricultural College—the third such college in the world, created mainly for farmers' sons. The college was established by Charles Benedict Calvert, a wealthy planter from nearby Riversdale—now Riverdale—and later a congressman. Calvert built a handsome Gothic dormitory-classroom structure located in a grove of trees near the present Morrill Hall, and he divided the land down the Baltimore-Washington Turnpike into small plots where each of the 50-or-so students experimented with a different crop. After the Civil War, the institution became a land-grant college, with small appropriations from Washington. The little college began to grow about 1900 when agricultural experiments began to bring prosperity to Maryland, and when the college expanded its offerings into engineering, business and the liberal arts. In 1912, the old Gothic building burned, and the state provided modern structures. Women were admitted to the campus, and graduate work began. In 1920, the college combined with the long established professional schools of Baltimore and changed its name to the University of Maryland. Growth accelerated after 1935 when the politically astute football coach, H.C. "Curley" Byrd, became president, added scores of new programs, and won national football championships. In the 1950s and 1960s President Wilson H. Elkins maintained the rapid growth and College Park became one of the largest campuses in the nation. President Elkins, a Rhodes Scholar, transformed the institution's public image to one of high academic integrity. In the 1970s and 1980s, the University's graduate and research programs flourished. In 1988, the General Assembly of Maryland combined six state colleges with the five campuses of the University of Maryland, and specifically charged College Park with the role of leadership in the revamped system.

Maryland in the U.S. News & World Report ranked the Colleges of Business and Engineering in the top 25 nationally.

Maryland in statistics compiled by the National Research Council (NRC) ranked 18 of the graduate programs as "strong" or "excellent."

Maryland according to the NRC ranked among the 10 best public universities in Computer Science, Physics, Mathematics, Electrical Engineering, Economics and Oceanography.

Maryland's College of Journalism was ranked by the Gannett Foundation as one of 11 exemplary programs nationally.

Maryland was chosen by Money magazine as one of the 100 "Best Buys" nationally.

Maryland was one of only nine top-ranked honors programs in Ivy League Programs at State School Prices.

Maryland ranked eighth in the nation in number of Fulbright Scholarships awarded (28 in 1994-95).

Maryland is in the top three of non-historically black institutions in number of African Americans receiving bachelor's degrees.

Maryland is second in the U.S. among non-historically black institutions in graduating African Americans in science and engineering, according to a recent National Science Foundation report.

Maryland is second in the U.S. among non-historically black institutions in number of African-American graduates who go on to earn doctorates, according to the National Research Council.

Maryland won the 1996 Boeing award for most outstanding engineering education program in the nation.

Maryland's student team won the national Texas Instruments "Digital Signal Processors Solutions Challenge," and finished in the top three in the international round, out of 230 teams.

Maryland serves as a magnet to attract major facilities to the region (National Archives, Food and Drug Administration, etc.)

1,568 student-athletes named to Scholar Athlete Honor Roll (3.0+ GPA) in last decade.

1995 overall athletic graduation rate, 68%, exceeds overall University graduation rate (66%), and has increased from 55% in 1991 (students entering in 1984-85).

Created a Returning Student Athlete academic program that has to date graduated 12 of the 27 former athletes enrolled in the program.

Established earlier and more stringent admissions and academic eligibility standards than NCAA requirements.

Established a well-funded academic support program.

In 1995 Maryland was one of the first to gain full, unconditional NCAA certification In Athletics.

Maryland holds a leadership role in the governance of the NCAA. University President William E. Kirwan and Athletic Director Deborah A. Yow are national voices in the implementation of NCAA policy.

Maryland ranked 48th nationally for the Sears Directors Cup in 1993-94, 57th in 1994-95, and in 1995-96 ranked 18th. The cup is an assessment of overall competitive performance of athletic programs.
